Opening of the "Cosmopolitan"—Disgraceful Proceedings—Thieves in the Crowd.

According to announcement, the Cosmopolitan Hotel was thrown open for public inspection last evening, and such a crowd of San Francisco has seldom seen, and for her credit it is hoped will never see again. Long before the appointed hour, the street and passage-ways to the hotel were crowded with people, and when at last the doors were thrown open, the mob rushed in like a pack of hungry wolves, crowding and squeezing, without regard to order, system or decency. The Mazappa rush was not a circumstance, and the crowd of office-seekers who besieged the "new Collector," so graphically described by Phoenix, was but a parallel case. They stormed the house, and rummaged it from top to bottom. Every nook and corner was packed with people. The proprietors had no idea that their general invitation would be so generally responded to, and they were not prepared for such a reception. There must have been at least 20,000 visitors, many of them ladies and gentlemen, but for the most part a collection of roughs and loafers who came for the purpose of raising a row, and amusing themselves in their peculiar fashion. They gathered on the stairways, in the halls and parlors, pushing, shoving and swearing, until the whole scene was one of the wildest confusion, and a disgrace to the city. The proprietors were powerless to prevent these lawless acts, and in their attempts to do so were roughly handled. The policeman at the door was squeezed in among a gang of roughs, lifted from his feet and carried half way up the stairs. Three several fights occurred in the lower hall and on the stairways, and men were seen emerging with bloody noses and blackened eyes. Women fainted and were trampled under foot, and amid the din and confusion thieves and pickpockets were plying their calling and nipping all they could lay their hands on. Sheets and pillow cases were stolen from the beds, boots, slippers and clothing from the rooms, and crockery and silver ware from the dining-room and pantry, in fact, nearly everything that was pocketable and which was not closely watched, was gobbled up and confiscated. A fine silver salver which cost $80, and a silver pitcher valued at $40 were stolen from the hall, and ten silver goblets were taken from the dining room, besides other articles of value. Mr. Henning's room was broken into and all his boots and underclothing, and even the clothes brushes and wispy brooms were stolen, in fact, his domicile was completely cleaned out, without leaving him a change of undergarments.

The proprietors are busy taking an account of stock in order to ascertain what is missing, for the purpose of reporting to the police. Chief Burke casually happened in about half-past 9 o'clock, and sent for a squad of policemen, who soon cleared the house from top to bottom. About 1 o'clock this morning the house was searched from pit to roof, to see if any stragglers had secreted themselves, when it was discovered that a party of ladies and gentlemen were locked into the parlors by some loafer, and the key taken away. The proprietors were obliged to send for a locksmith to open the door and release the prisoners. Had a fire occurred in the house there is no telling how many lives might have been lost. Mr. Henning recognized in the crowd several scamps and vagabonds who were obliged to leave Virginia City to save their precious necks from the halter, and one of them he had arrested on account of his disgraceful conduct. Such an abuse of hospitality was never before witnessed in this city, and we trust never again will be. We gave a full description of the establishment a few days since, but then the furnishing was incomplete. Nearly 40 men have been engaged for the past six weeks by Goodwin & Co., the upholsters, in getting the furniture and upholstery ready for the opening. The "Cosmopolitan" commences business to-day, and already there is a long list of autographs on its books.—S. F. Bulletin, Sept. 1st.

A NOVEL UNDERTAKING.—Some individuals in Chicago have constructed, on the most primitive principles, an odd craft called the "Idaho," in which they propose to sail to the Territory of that name by water. A superstructure of old boards is erected on the hull of an old scow, and in it are located the berths, and on each side, together with a cooking stove and ladder well stocked, while round the walls are hung in most admired confusion, rifles, revolvers, bowie knives and other weapons. The hurricane deck is covered with all manner of articles suitable, in a new country, such as spades, shovels, axes, reaping machine, and a complete stock of mining utensils. The boat is propelled by means of a twelve-horse power engine which turns a stern wheel, such as are frequently seen in Western waters. It is anticipated that a speed of from eight to ten knots an hour will be attained; but whether she will be liable to make good headway against the rapid current of the Missouri river remains to be seen. It is proposed to sail up the Chicago river into the canal, and onward to the Illinois river; thence by the Mississippi into the Missouri river, sailing as far up as Fort Benton, the head of navigation. At this point the engine of the boat will be taken out, and with the cargo and baggage, conveyed across the country two hundred miles on wagons to Bannock City. On the arrival of the party at Bannock City, a brewery, distillery and saw mill will be erected. The engine of the boat will furnish the motive power when the buildings are completed.

TO BE HUNG.—W. H. Carter, a rebel citizen of Maryland, and who was tried and convicted before General Doubleday's Commission, on the charge of violating the laws of war, in contracting to furnish the rebel Government at Richmond with provisions, drugs, etc., has been sentenced to be hung. The President has approved the sentence, and the culprit will be executed at such time and place as the commanding General of the Department may designate. Carter had executed contracts with the rebels amounting to millions.

None are so resentful of the unfavorable opinion of others as those who are continually desecrating themselves.

DAILY UNION VEDETTE. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1864. California Notifications.

The Union State and Congressional Conventions of California assembled at Sacramento early in the present month. They completed the work of the day with remarkable harmony and unanimity, and, we may add, with credit to themselves and satisfaction to the people. Whatever bickerings, heart-burnings, bitterness, etc., which usually attend such conclaves, may in reality have existed among the members, little of this spirit is apparent in the published proceedings. While some of the papers divided the Convention into cliques, euphoniously termed "Short Hairs" and elongated capillaries—and charged that there were Connessites and anti-Connessites, of bitter proclivities, the proceedings were marked with unusual decorum. The Conventions have presented to the Union voters an excellent ticket, which could hardly be bettered.

As the California Volunteers in Utah will be called upon to vote at the ensuing Presidential election in November next, we will briefly note the candidates presented for their suffrages. The National Union Convention at Baltimore having placed before the country for President and Vice President—Abraham Lincoln, of the whole Union—and Andrew Johnson, of Tenn. The California Convention has nominated as Electors John G. McCallum of El Dorado county; Sam. Brannan, of San Francisco; C. C. Maclay, of Santa Clara; W. W. Crane, jr., of Alameda, and J. W. Oliver, of Siskiyou. With the exception of the three last named gentlemen, all are personally known to us as men of character, standing and long tried unionism. They will faithfully carry out the behests of the Convention which nominated them, and vote for Lincoln and Johnson, first, last and all the time. Mr. Oliver, of Siskiyou, is a new name to us in politics, but he is vouched for as a gentleman of ability and integrity, while his nomination is sufficient to commend him to the hearty support of every Union man.

Mr. McCallum was President of the Convention. Mr. Maclay was formerly a Methodist Divine, subsequently member of the Legislature from Santa Clara, and always an intense Union man. Mr. Crane is a young lawyer of ability.

For Congress in the First or lower District—Mr. Cole, the present faithful representative, was thrown over board—for what reason is not apparent, and D. C. McNier of San Francisco, substituted. The latter has never before taken part in politics, is one of San Francisco's oldest and most wealthy merchant's, and seems to have been chosen to conciliate the mercantile interests of that place—represented by the People's Party—which has heretofore been ignored by party Conventions. He is at present a member of the City Front Commissioners, and will make a faithful representative when elected to Congress.

For the Second, or middle District, Wm. Higby of Calaveras, was nominated by acclamation. Mr. H. is the present Union Congressman from that District, and his past services give ample promise of his future career.

In the Third, or northern District, Thomas Shannon was thrown overboard, and John Bidwell of Butte, selected. Every old Californian knows who John Bidwell is. A man of sterling integrity, good hard horse sense, intense Unionism, and as one of the earliest of California's pioneers, ardently devoted to all her true interests. He is a man of wealth, of untiring industry, and whoever else may be scratched, we predict it will not be John Bidwell.

On the whole, we congratulate California, and Californians at home and abroad, on the excellent ticket presented for their suffrages.

LETTERS.—The following named persons will find letters to their address at the office of the Post Adjutant, viz:

Mrs. Ann Berisford; Mrs. — Banks; Mr. E. T. Mack; Mr. Arthur Mitchell.

By calling for these letters and stating that they are advertised, they will be delivered; but if not called for will be sent to the Dead Letter Office in two weeks.

SUMMARY STATE FOR THE ARMY.—Train No. 4—winning, sub-contractors—consisting of 12 wagons with supplies for the army in Utah, was unloaded on Sunday last at the U. S. Commissary warehouse in this city. The supplies consist of flour, (at considerably under Convention prices) sugar, coffee, etc. The troops in this Territory will be well supplied; and if there be still any who fancy that the discharge of the soldiers here will break up the command in this District, they will perceive that we do not agree with them, any more than we did with the prophetic assertions of the spurious Seer who foretold that the California troops should never cross the Jordan on their march hither.

Well supplied with provisions (no thanks to the ring leaders of covert treason in this city) and with augmented instead of diminished numbers, the troops of this District will remain, and it is believed to be the intention of Government, that they shall remain until the exceeding loyalty of the people, and their strict obedience to all the rules of the moral and the behests of the civil law shall render the presence of troops utterly useless for any purposes of enforcing law;—and we may venture to predict that the prompt, thorough and efficient manner in which the prime objects of the soldiers here, viz: the protection of the O. M. Line within this District, and the repression of Indian hostilities, were accomplished, gives us an ample guarantee, that while they remain in this Territory no overt act of treason can be attempted, and if attempted will be most efficiently treated.

BALLS.—The residents of our delightful and pleasant little camp will be at no loss for amusements during the next few days. Arrangements are now being made for two magnificent balls: one under the management of Thos. T. Paine, Jno. C. Daily, H. Hart and other gentlemen, will come off on Monday evening, the 19th inst. The other, given by the Dashaways, and superintended by George Waldron, Thos. McGee, Henry Schaefer and others, will be given (as seen by advertisement in another column) on Friday evening, the 16th inst.

Persons attending either of the above parties, we are assured, will see all the enjoyment they bargain for.

MOVEMENTS OF TROOPS.—Companies C and F, 1st Battalion, Nev. Territory Volunteers, left Fort Churchill on Sunday, en route for Camp Douglas.

Companies B and E, 3rd Inf'y, C. V., will shortly leave Fort Ruby, N. T., (where they have for some time been stationed) for Camp Douglas, where they will arrive in time for the mustering out of the service of such of their members as may wish to leave the service on the expiration of their time.

STAGE LINE TO RUSH VALLEY.—The public generally will be pleased to learn that a company of enterprising gentlemen have established an express line between Salt Lake City and the Rush Valley mines. By advertisement it will be seen that their coaches will leave the Mansion House on Tuesday and Friday mornings at 7 o'clock, returning Mondays and Thursdays. We understand that the proprietors (Shaw Bro. & Co.) design running daily coaches to and from the mines in a short time.

SCARCITY OF FRUIT.—Last year at this season, peaches, apples, etc., were very abundant and quite cheap in this market, while this year we have but little fruit, and the little that there is, is small and stinted in every particular except the price. Enterprising Yahoos did for a few days—till they found it wouldn't work—ask $2 50 per dozen for peaches, but they have subsided to the more tolerable elevation of, three dozen for a dollar.

DECLINE IN GOLD.—Gold has become so much of a drug in the market, that the Bankers are to-day unwilling to pay over 175 for it, and do not appear anxious to purchase at that figure. The time is now very different from that sung some few weeks since when gold stood at 276 in greenbacks to the $100 in gold. We recommend to persons having gold on hands to hold a Convention with a view to staying its rapid fall!

Major H. C. Ball, Paymaster U. S. A., with Mr. Chas. H. Belden his clerk, leave to-day for Camp Conness to pay off the troops there stationed. Thence they proceed to Fort Ruby and pay the troops occupying that Post. They proceed next directly to California, but are to return to this District by the 11th Oct next—the time of muster out for the first company of the Inf'y whose time expires.

THEY WIN THE DAY.—The strikers in the Internal Revenue office at San Francisco have won the day. They returned to their work on the 1st inst, their pay having been raised to $10 per day, in greenbacks. The Bulletin says that the increased pay was allowed by Assessor Fay, upon authority received from Washington.

NO DRAFT.—The Virginia Union of Sept. 6th, says it is understood that there will be no draft in the Pacific States, as enlistments and re-enlistments will furnish all the troops required on this coast. The majority of the old volunteers, it appears, are re-enlisting.

DISORDERLY.—We are sorry to hear that some of the soldiers lately arrived at our neighboring Post, have been disgracing the otherwise good name of the command, by drunkenness and other bad conduct, in the houses and public streets of this city.

A. H. Hop has obtained a verdict for $30,000 damages, for injuries received at the hands of Capt. Weber, at Stockton.

If Fitch thinks we are in the habit of "shirking all the responsibilities of gentlemen," he had better try us on; and if he thinks we cannot prove him to be a d-d scoundrel, he had better commence a libel suit against us.—Virginia Union.

The above strikes us as being decidedly expressive and plain; sufficiently so, certainly, to avoid any misunderstanding regarding the editor's meaning.

THE BEAUTIES OF TELEGRAPHING.—A late dispatch received at San Francisco from Frederick Billings was published as follows:

"I am not positively well; will not be a candidate for Congress."

The dispatch should have read:

"I am not, and positively will not, be a candidate for Congress."

Those who read the mass of Eastern dispatches daily published in the Union will judge from this what care and attention are required to render them intelligible to the public.—Sac. Union.

JUST BEGUN.—A correspondent of the Oroville Record, writing from Camp Joaquin, in the Klamath country, says:

"Lieut. Taylor, of Co. E, of the 6th Reg't. of Inf'y, C. V., arrived in Camp to-day with 26 prisoners, red-skins, captured near Red Bluffs. The scouting party left this camp on the 11th of July, and have been on their trail ever since. The party consisted of Lieut. Taylor, in command, Lieut. Oaks and forty men. Lieut. Oaks is still in the Indian country with thirty men. He continues on the war path, and if perseverance will accomplish anything, he will give a good account of himself. The return party were eight days coming home; so you can form some kind of an idea of the country they had to travel over. A short time ago, the people thought the Indian war here was over, but according to present appearances, it is only really begun."

George H. Pendleton, the nominee for Vice President, on the ticket with George B. McClellan, is a member of the present Congress, representing the First District (Cincinnati) of Ohio. He was also a member of the Thirty-Seventh Congress, from the same district, and before that for several years, a conspicuous member of the State Legislature. Pendleton is classified as a Democrat, and generally, in Congress, worked with his colleagues Samuel S. Cox and Alexander Long, the Copperhead Representative from the 2d Cincinnati District. On the vote for Speaker of the House, in December, 1863, Pendleton voted for Cox, along with Voorhees and other extreme Radical Copperheads and Peace Democrats. The reasonable presumption is that he never favored the war and does not now.—Stockton Independent.

FIGHTING WHISKY.—Yesterday evening old Alcohol commenced his regular election work by putting a number of d-d fools on the rampage. There were several smart fights, which settled no particular question in regard to the election, but got a few whisky jugs into the station house.—Virginia Union, Sept. 7.

The Marysville Express says: "It is now the duty of Democrats to take a calm and deliberate view of the political field." They had better do so now; for they won't want to view the field after election.—S. F. Flag.

We find the following items in the Virginia Union of September 5th:

FORT CHURCHILL ITEMS.—Capt. Thurston's Company left (or intended to leave) Fort Churchill yesterday, for Fort Ruby, in Ruby Valley. Capts. John H. Dalton, A. B. Wells, R. C. Payne and J. W. Calder, of Companies C, D, E and F, 1st Nevada Cavalry, expect to leave Fort Churchill for Camp Douglas, at Salt Lake, about the 15th inst. The health of the troops at Fort Churchill is good.

GOVERNMENT TRAIN.—A train consisting of fourteen wagons, to which was attached six mules each, passed through our city Sunday morning from Benicia on their way to Fort Churchill, there to be loaded with the baggage and outfit of our soldiers, who will be shortly on their way to Salt Lake.

FUNERAL OF SAM WELLS.—We learn from private advices that the funeral of Sam Wells, the minstrel, took place at San Francisco, on Sunday, and was largely attended by the National Guards, the Free Masons, members of the profession and other citizens.

GOVERNOR EVANS' WITHDRAWAL.—Seeing the fact that his favoring the measure was being used as the greatest obstacle to the success of the State question, Governor Evans has withdrawn from the field as an aspirant for the United States Senate. In doing so, he has displayed a magnanimity as rare as it is unselfish. Whatever his expectations may have been, he freely sacrifices for the sake of a measure which he deems of paramount interest to the welfare of Colorado. His course will endear him more than ever to his friends, whilst it removes the barrier which had driven many professed State men into the ranks of the opposition.

The following is a copy of his letter to the Union Central Committee:—Denver News.

DENVER, C. T. Aug. 29, 1864.

To the Union Central Committee:

GENTLEMEN:—I am not and will not be a candidate for the office of United States Senator in case of the adoption of the Constitution by the people of Colorado.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't.

JOHN EVANS.

Messrs Loudon Mullin and others, Denver, Colorado Territory.

KILLED.—Sam'l Seabery, while mining on Walla Walla bar on Tuesday last, was killed or drowned by a slide of rock and gravel, which dammed up the water so as to cover his body, where it was found fastened among the rubbish. Deceased was a native of Maine, and leaves a wife in Portland, Oregon, who was expected to join him here in a few weeks.—Boise News, Sept. 3.

A GALLANT CHARGE.—A member of the Sanitary Commission, who was on duty in one of the fierce battles in the Wilderness, says:

When in a ravine he chanced on a dying rebel Colonel; he stooped over the man, and after some words, the rebel whispered, his voice growing weaker as death approached, but his eye lighting up with a soldier's enthusiasm, "It was the gallantest charge I was ever in. I counted twenty-five times that that flag was shot down, and every time it was taken up and kept on!" "Whose flag?" said some one. "Yours!" was the answer, and the officer died—the last words on his lips, a true soldier's generous testimony to the valor of his enemies.—Stockton Independent.

SOUND DEMOCRACY.—The Democratic Press publishes original articles expressing joy because "Yankee carcasses" cumber the ground in front of Petersburg, and because Grant, as those articles say, cannot take Richmond. Such sentiments comprise the essence of sound Democracy. Leading Democrats rejoice with exceeding great joy over the slaughter of Union soldiers, the repulse of Union armies, and what they imagine to be the ability of rebels to conquer the Union. And they have the hardihood to complain of "tyranny," if any one seeks to repress the expression of such treason!—Bee.

It is stated by a Copperhead paper, says the Humboldt Times, that ex-President Buchanan sent $50 and his autograph to the Mississippi Valley Sanitary Fair at St. Louis. If the old fellow has done this one good act, he will stand as fair in history as Byron's Corsair, who

"Left a name to other times Link'd with one virtue and a thousand crimes."

GIRLS.—The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says: "A girl is not allowed to be a girl after she is ten years old. If you treat her as though she were one, she will ask you what you mean. If she starts to run across the street, she is brought back to the nursery to listen to a lecture on the propriety of womanhood. Now it seems to me that a girl ought to be nothing but a girl until she is seventeen. Of course their are proprieties belonging to her sex, which it is fitting for her to observe, but it seems to me, that aside from these, she ought to have the utmost latitude. She ought to be encouraged to do much out of doors, to run and exercise in all those ways which are calculated to develop the muscular frame. What is true of boys, in the matter of bodily health, is eminently so of girls. It is all-important that women should be healthy, well developed. Man votes, writes, does business, etc., but woman is the teacher and the mother of the world; and anything that deteriorates woman is a comprehensive plague on human life itself. Health among women is a thing that every man, who is wise and considerate for his race, should more earnestly seek and promote."

NINE WIDOWS.—Died, in Salt Lake City, August 17th, Bishop Ephraim Kimball Blair, in the fifty-first year of his age. He was a man whose mind was richly stored with the good things of the Kingdom of God, and was ever ready and energetic in carrying out the measures of his superiors in the Priesthood. He was brilliant in thought and quick to perceive the revelations and whisperings of the Holy Spirit. He leaves nine wives and forty-three small children to mourn his untimely end. Verily, in the midst of wives we sometimes kick the bucket.—Enterprise.

18. Late one night, the most miserable of all human beings, a drunken husband, after spending his whole time at his potations, set out for home. "Well," ruminated he, as he staggered along, "if I find my wife up I'll scold her; what business has she to sit up, wasting fire and light, eh? And if I find her in bed I'll wallop her; what business has she to go to bed before I get home?"

19. A minister had a quarrel with one of his parishoners, by the name of Hardy, who showed considerable resentment. On the succeeding Sunday, the divine preached from the following text, which he pronounced with great emphasis, and with a significant look at Hardy, who was present: "There is no fool like the fool-Hardy."

20. A young Rhode Islander gives the following reason for re-enlisting: "First, I am young; second, I am able-bodied; third, I am in good health; fourth, the country needs me; and, fifth, my mother would not be proud of her son should he prove recreant now to the holy cause for which she has already sacrificed so much."

21. In Schuyler Colfax's district, Indiana, the Democrats have nominated David Turpie for Congress, a violent Copperhead. Mr. Colfax has already defeated Turpie a time or two, and can "do it again."

22. the ancient and newspaper worn paragraph, that a young man who was recently bathing in the Missouri river, seeing a party of ladies approach, drowned himself from motives of delicacy, is resuscitated. The young man however, is not.

23. He who doesn't want a thing has the advantage of him who possesses it; for he is not troubled with its custody.

24. We see it stated that "they are dusting out Fremont's cottage at Nahant, and are making it ready for his summer visit." It will be some time before anybody will dust out the White House for the Pathfinder.

THE DEAD SOLDIER.

Above the mould'ring embers' still glow,
Her low dark figure swaying to and fro,
A stricken mother rocked her sleepless woe.
With withered hands close clasped above her head
Weeping hot tears like drops of molten lead,
She waited for the coming of the dead—
Him, her first-born, who from his mother's side
Went forth exultant in his country's pride,
And in the fierce assault, unflinching, died.
And as she sat and wept, memory upcast
Each incident of all his years gone past,
Down to the bitter hour she saw him last.
Then grew she cold and still, her quick,
sharp ear
Caught the far sound she longed, yet feared to hear—
The sound of a dark something drawing near.
She heard it stop before her own street door,
She heard the tread of men upon the floor,
Heard them set down the burden that they bore.
Heard in unmoving agony—but when Died down the street the footsteps of the men,
She knew her boy was with her once again.
And she arose and laid the dead face bare,
And like another corpse beside it there,
Gazed on it with white lips and marble stare.
And stood and gazed and moved not till the night
Wore out its watches, and the morning's light
Laid on the soldier's brow a halo bright,
And with it passed away the bitter spell,
And broken into tears to earth she fell,
And cried, "O God, 'tis well! Thou doest all things well."

THE SUFFERING TENNESSEANS.—The Louisville Journal of recent date says:
"A more sorrowful spectacle one could not imagine than that presented by the disappointed poor who have applied to our commissary here at Chattanooga since the order of Gen. Sherman forbade the issue of rations to the destitute citizens within our lines.
Aged women are seen at Capt. Cas-son's begging for bread, but military necessity is an inexorable law, and hearts that pity are impotent to respond with the aid solicited. At his office every day women, marriageable girls, children, cripples and needy, of every age and of both sexes, may be seen here in rags and wretchedness, barefooted and in tears. The mother that weeps at the door is not suffering from hunger. It is not bread that will dry her tears. It is food for the little ones at home that alone will make her happy. Think of it. To walk 15, 20, 30, or even 40 miles for a few pounds of provender, to keep together body and soul. How can the mother return to her hungered children who wait for bread? If our breasts had windows, I am sure that through these we could read a despair, to depict which words would fail.

The army must have bread. The unity of the States and the supremacy of the laws may rest upon this campaign. The stake is too mighty to admit of any remissness—to allow even the voice of suffering women and children to hold us back. If we feed the needy we may starve the soldier. The soldier fights for all. If he suffers he may fail, and with that failure we are all poor indeed, and a nation are sufferers. If we suffer for a period and cheer him, we enhance his chances for victory. His success is a national gain, and national prosperity is individual. Hot tears may scald the cheeks of mothers, and hunger pinch thousands of needy ones, and yet the success of the Union cause is worth all that sacrifice, even months of painful hunger.

Cavour remarked to a deputation of Italians, who asked of him indemnifi-cation for the loss of their crops in the Italian war, "Some are killed, some are wounded; you are luckier; you have only lost some rice fields." The Irish, it is said, lived on nettles and weeds in the time of Cromwell. While my heart swells with pity for the poor,
I cannot but look upon their sufferings as a stern necessity that the General would gladly, if he could, evade."
